

We would like to thank the artists whose work appears in this issue. Below are the original images that appear in this year's Intertext along with some information about the artists.

Ashli Fiorini is a graduating Art Photography senior from Syracuse, NY: <http://cargocollective.com/afiorini>

Holly Wilson: “As the rest of society is passively choked by the man, living in repetition through stereotypes and false realities, a new generation will assemble”:
<http://yourfriendholly.wix.com/amorphousnoise->

Hannah Nast received her BFA in Art Photography and Religion in May 2013 and is currently getting her Masters in Library and Information Science and a Certificate of Advanced Study in Information Innovation at Syracuse University: <http://hbnast.viewbook.com/portfolio/hbnast>

Whitley Williams is a sophomore Environmental and Interior Design major at Syracuse University, in the college of Visual and Performing Arts, whose main goal is to effectively produce quality designs based on the specific wants and needs of clients: <http://whitleyswilliams.tumblr.com>

